PANTANO
Since 1920 & SONS, INC.

DEMOLISHING THE PHILADELPHIA AREA

FOR FOUR GENERATIONS

What do you look for in a trade partner? Competitive pricing? Reliability? A job done well? How about someone who understands where you're coming from in trying to please the client and stay on schedule?

We understand demolition as an important first phase in any renovation project. We pride ourselves on being quicker and neater than your alternatives, while providing worry-free service via thorough communication, depth of experience, and a personal on-site presence. With Pantano & Sons you know what you're getting — a competitive price for a job done safely, neatly, and timely.

Family-owned and operated since 1920, Pantano & Sons has performed countless demolition projects across the Philadelphia region. Whereas crane work in the city dominated our revenue stream in the days of founder Samuel Pantano, and complete demolition using excavators equipped with grapple buckets is one aspect of what we do now, we've since specialized in the area of selective demo on residential renovation projects and office or retail fit-outs throughout the Delaware Valley.

Since our inception, the Pantano name has represented integrity within the industry and we continue to build on a solid reputation of reliability. We realize the value in contractor relationships, and how important it is to call on someone whose work you can trust time and time again. If the manner in which something is done is as important to you as the end result, give us a call the next time you need an estimate.
